Big Scioty ("Sigh-OH-tee") is named for the Scioto ("Sigh-OH-ta") River, which runs south down the middle of the state of Ohio and joins the Ohio River at Portsmouth. West Virginia Fiddler and banjo player Burl Hammons is generally credited as the source of the tune; see a link below to his very crooked rendition. YouTube has many recordings of it, often "squared up", as is the version above.

ABC transcription by Pete Showman; rev. 3 9/18/2016

Here are links to a few interesting versions on the Web:
* www.youtube.com/watch?v=Gyj7m0QdFkM (A smoother -- and square -- version, with Aly Bain & Jay Ungar fiddling, guitar and Dobro solos by Russ Barenberg and Jerry Douglas, Molly Mason on bass and Jim Sutherland on bodhran)
* www.youtube.com/watch?v=Dde7W7Xt6P4 (a nice version with two guitars)